We should judge from the rejoicing of the Abolitionists that they are rather surprised at their victory in Indians. It is had enough, however, as it is. The patriots just the real legal vote of the State were alone are the Government. counted. With such happy opportunities to fill ballot-boxee, it is surprising that the maority stopped at fifteen or twenty thousand. a crowd of rebels in Indiana. In his late speech he did not give a very flattering account of his prospects; but upon the testimejorl'y of the people of the United States. Now, we should like to read an explanation of this matter by some fogical Abolitionlet. How can they rejoice over the fact that the whoic North is full of rebeis? If they are right lu what they say of their opposents, gratulation, but everything to regret. Either this election shows a sorry record for the understand this without any confersion of mendacity; but, in order to avoid the effect of false representations on the Southern prople, all these calumples upon a powerful minority of the North had better be repudiated. They need not admit any criminality in the matter; for what would be otherwise unconclitutional may become lawful; and, on the same principle, what may be wrong may become right, by becoming indispersable that the pitriota and asinis may get the offices. Southern politicians understand the doctrine, and have had a good doal of personal experience in such practices. They can confess that their charges are only true in an electioncering sense; that they were made for the simple to believe, in order to get their votes.

At a time when a dominant party in this country has made it a sine que non that the Democratic doctrine of States rights must of policy and government, the British minintry in Canada, after various experiments in Thursday of last week. other forms, are urging the action of that very echeme.

It receives the approbation of the people wherever it is advanced, for the plain reason that there is no other way by which a conntry, cecupying a vest territory, can have at ence its foral and central interests attended to. In many very important matters in l'ritish Americs, as in this country, the interests of all, in and placed in chief command of the cavaira every part of it, are identical. In others the forces of the rabel army of Tennessee. interests are, if not autogonistic, at least indifferent, and in the presence of what was common to all would be slurred over or neg-

No higher compliment could be paid to the framers of our Constitution than the course that is now recommended by the ablest men in Causda, nor could any course be more in conflict with the policy arged by the misnamed Republican party in this country. The latter urge consolidation with a blind vehomence that admits of neither argument nor emonstrance. They have, or assume to have, cluded that the present difficulties are cosble to the dectrine of States rights, advocated by Jefferson and sustained the Democratic party from that day to this. They beither attempt to prove this, nor will they listen to others to be propagated by f rce. who seek to disprove it. In blind infatuation, and in fondness for any peculiar party cry that can draw the unreflecting after them, they

The Southern States never seceded from any belief that States rights would be used to rjure or effect their interests. Had they been a vinced on the other hand that the several ights of the States would be maintained by the Federal Government as well as the local cverament, secresion would have been the very last theory that would have been attempted. Nor is that all. Convince the people now is rebellion that their right to regulate their own institutions to anit themselves shall never be interfered with, and they will be prompt to reinra to the Uni n. It was not slavery, although it was made to turn upon that question to a great extent, which enabled the Northern leadera to take the people astray. It was the sp webension that the right to regulate it, with ther interests common to the Southern 8 ates, would be tak n from the people in the States. It was this that made the lever or fulcrum by which our natural world was overturned. It is plain to all who choose to sea that, so far from States rights being any cause for disun.ou. It was, In fact, the best boud of Union. Of this the people of British America are well aware, and the stone which we are so hastly rejecting they will take for the cornerstone of the Temple. The present proposition of the Union Democracy and the Democratic is to have Upper and Lower Coneda, and the mailtime provinces in this Federal Union, ough it is in contemplation hereafter to unite on the same equitable terms all the Northwest Towitory, lucluding Vanc aver's Island. Letters explaining the objects of the movement, and of the Charlotteville Conven don, say that each of the provinces shall have a Legislature and Executive, as wa do, or old. who shall be vested with the whole control of local offiles. It is held as indispusable that the farctions of the general and local government, and the anticots delegated to each, must be clearly defined in the Constitution, so as to prevent collision, and give security for local interests, the whole to be embodied in an act of the Imperial Parliament.

This was just exactly the effort made in the rmation of our Federal Constitution, and it was held notil the advent of the Republican party that we had succeeded.

Ali disturbances have, more or less, origin ated from a fear that these restrictions or Federal power would be broker, and the interest of some secrificed to the glory or wealth of the other. To charge, therefore that the States rights doctrine has consed the war would be like charging heaven with the tins of mankind, bucause they were forbidden by heaven.

We may not be under much obligation to Great Britain, and It is likely she is very ladifferent to our gratitude or cecsure. There s still much to admire in her wisdom and her reedom. She is not so concelled when she perceives a policy by which the rights and socurities of her people are advenced and their property increased but she adopts it. Perescaped defeat by the rebels and traitors. The bape it would be better to say that her people numbers are nearly equal; purhaps quite so, if adopt it, so there, more than here, the people

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

The Reported Disaster in the Vailey-Terrible Losses Sustained in Sheridan's Army-The Confederates Determined to Regain Possession of the Valley-The Government Suppressing News from Grant's Army-Entire Failure of the Present Movement Against Richmond.

[Correspondence of the New York News,)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. Matters in the Shenandoah Valley are no working smoothly. "The Government" ha received intelligence from Gen. Sheridan not withstanding its denial of catters, so the mitalligence is not an agreed by a sa housed for The success of Grant's plans against Peters burg dapended on the success of Sheridan have valley; and as the latter has new met with a repulse, the recent movement of Gran against Richmond will have to be shandoned. The full extent of the missorthme which The full extent of the misfortune wh and. The full extent of the misortine which has befallen Sheridan's army has not yat transpired; but it is said that he has fallen back to Strasburg, and that the attuation in the valley is so critical that Grant has gone to Harper's Farry in person for the third time; or that he will soon go. One thing is very certain: the losses which General Sheridan's army asstanced, from the oneral Sheridan's army anstained, from the 19.h to the 29.h ult., were far more acvere then the country has any idea of; the lesses, too, falling upon the officers and troops of the most effective organizations. Some of the New York and New Jersey regiments, which had one thousand men when General Sheridan took the command, now have less than three handred. Some brigades, instead of being 4.000 atrong, can sally muster 1200 men. The 4,000 strong, can suly muster 1,000 men. The loss among the officers is very heavy. In one division nearly half of the cifficers are killed and wounded. These lects are learned from wounded officers who have reached Harper's

Ferry.

It is easy to see, therefore, how, with his army in such a condition, General Sheridau was usable to withstand the cuest of Gon, Longstreet, and was obliged to retire. But it is difficult to see how, if Longstreet has as many troops as is reported—35,000—and all well disciplined—Sheridau can stop in his retrograde movement until he reaches Winchester. If movement until he reaches Winchester. If the reports of Longstreet's movements which have reached here are true, it is evident that for some purpose or other, Gon. Lee is deermined to regain possession of the whole valley, and to hold it until winter sets in, and of course, to destroy egain the Bullmore and Ohio railroad. It may be that the ulterior purposa which he has in view is an attack on Washington. But there is little doubt that his present purpose is to causa Grant to abandon his operations against Petersburg and Richmond.

Just as Curtis' division was adventing to the attack, the enemy, in a counter movement, made a v zorons assault on our left, and the artitlery and cavalry on both sides were soon closely engaged. The enemy's artillery, like our own, was admirably served.

The effect of the absult on Curlis' left was to force it back on the right; however, being so far from the artillery fire by the intervening hills, and foilewing the foot of the mountain, our line kept steadily advancing round by the right, ustil the rebel battery, taken in the finals slamost, was compelled to precipitately abandon the position, when the rebel gains abandon the position, when the robel gans were seen wheeling down hill. THE EQUESCURRICULUM-LAST DAY .- After today the grand Equescurriculum, whose patronage luring its too brief sojurn in this city has been altounprecedented, and, notwithstanding a very powerful opposition, has been obliged to close ite oors almost every afternoon and evening before the performances commenced for want of space to amodate the people, will "Fold up its tent, ifke the Arabs, And eliently etcal away."

During the past week there has been an unusual affux of circus and professional people to Louisville, and their verdict, in common with that of he public, is that there has never been, either here or elsewhere in the United States, any exhibition ombining attractions so superior and multifarious as the Equescurriculum. all disloyal people of Fairiax and Alexandria The Election-The Friends of McCiel

Whatever may be the result of the State elections in Ohio, Indiana, and Pennsylvania, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, there can be nothing in them that should sinchen in the least the efforts of the friends of Gen. McCleilan. In every State he is tens of thousands of rotes stronger than the local State organizations. Although we may have inited in many localities, yet in those localities it is not a vote against him by any means. There are myriads of persons who have made up their minds to support him and oppose Lincoln who have nevertheless, from old party associations and personal friendship, voted against the Democracy at the lists election. It was in vain to talk to them of the effects of their votes—how they would be claimed. They did not see them in that light, and hence the apparent Inconsistency of their political action.

When November comes, and the direct issna is presented of the re-election of Lincoln or a change to a man like McCleilan, we shall see how the m-jority will increase from the side of the later. It has been the effort of the Lincoln party from the beginning to create the impression that Lincoln and McCleilsan were the asme as a running at the October elections, and that all those who voted the Republican Lincoln party from the beginning to create the impression that Lincoln and McCleilan were tha same as running at the October elections, and that all those who voted the Republican ticket then would support Lincoln in November. This is a transparent falsehood, and is known to be such by every Democrat. Well would the L'ucolnites believe that their chief is as strong as the Republican organization, but unfortunately for them it is not so. He is immensely weaker, as Gen. McCleilan is immensely stronger. As Gen. Harrison in 1840 carried Pennsylvania while his party was besten in October, and as Gen. Case carried Ohlo in November when we were defeated in October, 1848, so will Gen. McCleilan succeed in Statea where the Democracy have been worsted in the preliminary contests.

The iceal elections over, the opponents of Lincoln will then have a clear field to work against his success. He will then be deprived of the advantages that have thus far been in his lavor. Let the Democracy and the other conservative men favorable to his election raily from hill and dale. The main question is now about to be put—whether this country shall be carsed with the worst and most profilegate administration the world has ever seen Our confidence in the cafacity of the people for salf-government, and our knowledge of their feelings, will sot allow us to believe that it will be carried in the affirmative. The hundreds of thousands who voted against the Lincoln party yeared and in the States of Ohio, Indian, Pennsylvania and Iowa, will be re-enforced by tens of thousands of patriotic and conservative men, who, while against Lincoln, are still inclined to maintain their old organization; and the consequence will he an overwhelming trimmph. whelming triumph.
